September 9, 2010

Week at a glance

Our story this week was "How I Spent My Summer Vacation." High frequency and vocabulary words this week are: imagination, captured, manners, matador, plains, relax, vacation, rock, fire, wait, train, and tell. Please continue to study them.

Language arts this week has us working on describing words and continuing with sentence structure.

Our character traits this month is responsibility. We are reading Marvin Redpost "Alone in His Teacher's House" ask your child about the book.

Homework Folder

Homework is sent home on Monday. Please help your child take out the completed work each night, review work and help your child establish good study habits.

What is homework? Homework is spelling, reading and math facts for at least 20 minutes each night. Remember, you may record this time on your monthly reading calendar – we sent it home this week.
